A Guide to Joining Nodal Exchange

Joining Nodal Exchange:

Thank you for your interest in joining Nodal Exchange. In the following document we will cover the process for becoming a trading participant on Nodal Exchange and walk through how to set up your account for trading.

Step 1: Membership Materials

All applicants seeking to join Nodal Exchange must submit executed copies of the following documents:

- Participant Application
- Participant Agreement

Please have the appropriate persons at your organization review and execute these documents. If you require originals, please send two executed originals to the address below, otherwise email signed copies to Nodal Exchange Compliance.

Send To: Nodal Exchange
1921 Gallows Road, 3rd Floor
Tysons Corner, Virginia 22182
Attn: Chief Regulatory Officer

Participants of Nodal Exchange must adhere to the Nodal Exchange Rulebook, so please take time to review this document.

Step 2: Set up Clearing Account

As a cleared futures exchange, all participants must have an account with at least one of Nodal Exchange's supporting FCMs. A full list of supporting FCMs can be found here. If you do not already have an account with one of these entities and would like their contact details, or if your FCM is not in the list and you would like us to provide them details on becoming an FCM for Nodal Exchange, please email accountmanagement@nodalexchange.com.

Once you have established which FCM will clear your Nodal Exchange business, you must submit a signed Participant Account Form. In this form you will name an account administrator who will be responsible for the initial account set up and you will be assigned account codes. If the NCP and ITM codes are not pre-populated please leave them blank and Nodal Exchange will assign them. A copy of this form can be found in the Appendix of this document.

After the form has been executed by both you and your FCM, please send an electronic copy to accountmanagement@nodalexchange.com. In most cases the accounts can be created and will be ready for trading the same date the form is submitted.

It is important to understand your options when setting up Nodal Exchange accounts. There are no limits to the number of trading accounts you may have or how many FCMs you may clear through. Nodal Exchange does not charge for additional trading accounts. In planning your account structure, it is helpful to understand that each NCP can have one or many ITMs associated with it, and under each ITM you can have one or many traders. For example, if you had 20 traders, they could all reside in one ITM account; they could have an ITM account assigned for each trader, for 20 total ITM accounts; or there could be several ITMs each with a varying number of traders. We recommend that participants work with their FCM(s) to determine how many trading accounts are appropriate for their needs.

Step 3: Administering the Account

Prior to go-live the administrator on the Participant Account Form will be contacted with their login details. This administrator will be the first user on the account and will be responsible for setting up additional administrators, traders and other personnel. This user will also need to ensure that the account Trade Risk Limit has been set prior to trading. Below we will describe in greater detail User Management and Trade Risk Limits.

User Management

For each FCM you clear through, there will be a group of NCP (Non-Clearing Participant) users and ITM (Individual Trading Mnemonic) Users. The NCP group is generally where all the non-trading users should be assigned. The administrator will have the ability to set up NCP users with the following roles:

- NCP Admin – a super user with the ability to add or edit users, change risk limits, view settlement prices, access the VaR calculator and view all account activity.
- NCP User Admin – a user that may only add and edit users.
- NCP Risk Manager – a user that may change risk limits, view settlement prices, access the VaR calculator and view all account activity.
- NCP Auditor – a user than may view settlement prices, access the VaR calculator and view all account activity.

The Admin will then set up all the trading users at the ITM level. If a trader has access to multiple trading accounts, then the trader will need a login for each trading account. While Admins, Risk Managers and Auditors can also be set up at the ITM level, we recommend this only if you are trying to limit a user's visibility into particular trading account(s). If an Admin, Risk Manager, or Auditor should have visibility into all trading accounts then those users should be created at the NCP level.

Trade Risk Limit

The Trade Risk Limit is the dollar amount that governs the total initial margin any one ITM can accumulate. Prior to clearing a trade, Nodal Exchange calculates the ITM's portfolio level initial margin requirement with the addition of that trade and checks to ensure it is below the set Trade Risk Limit. This risk parameter is set by both the Trading Firm and the FCM, and Nodal Exchange uses the lower of the two to govern the account.

Upon initial account creation either the NCP Admin or the NCP Risk Manager must log in to the account and manually set the limit or choose to default the limit to the FCM limit. This latter option ensures that if your FCM increases your limit, then your limit automatically moves up to that amount.

Trading Account Live!

Once you have completed these steps your account(s) are live and ready for trading. Please refer to the Nodal Live guide for additional information about the trading screen, or contact Nodal Exchange Account Management for a personalized training session. If you have any questions please contact accountmanagement@nodalexchange.com.
